Reserved for Diane & Pete

and here I am a senior and am I ever going to miss school + anything that goes with it. We've had alot of good times together hiking + swimming + even fighting. Remember the time I was so mad I wanted to ~~Murder~~ throw a pair of roller skates at you and I still can't control my temper as I just proved. Well best of luck + have a lot of fun next year. Be good

Love
Diane

It has been lots of fun knowing you Karen. I haven't known you too long but your a good kid. I hope I see more of you this summer so take it easy and keep up your winning personality. Good luck for next year.

Your friend
Pete.

Dear Karen
Look here is the same story again. I still can't think of anything to say. Diane & I are getting along fine. So this is all. Guess we will be getting married in February.

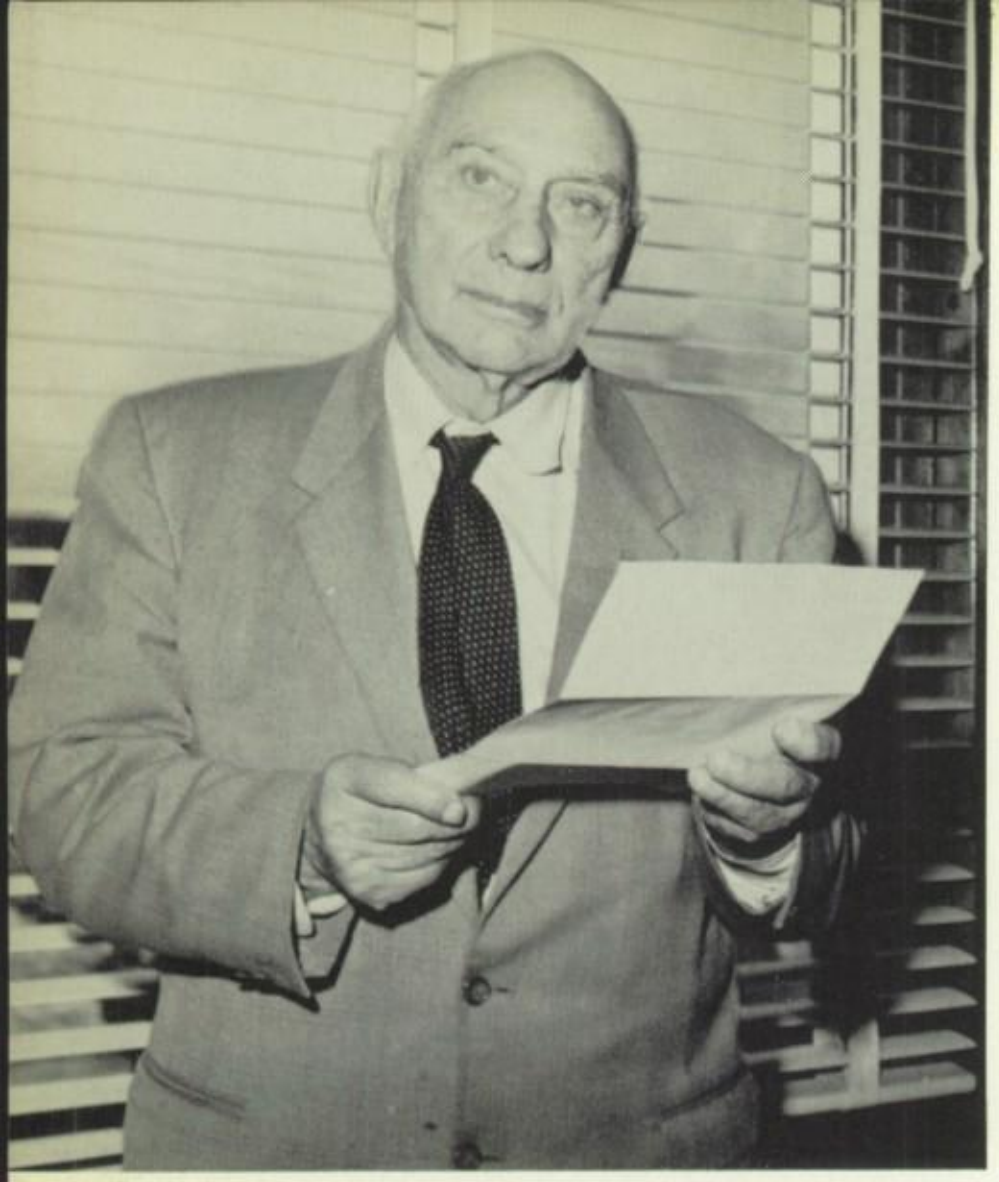
Dedication

To our superintendent, Mr. A. I. Jedlicka, with gratitude and admiration for the years of diligent effort and constant interest in the affairs of students.

"The foundation of every state is the education of its youth."

Faculty



Superintendent, A. I. Jedlicka

It is a great pleasure for me to be able to congratulate the seniors of 1957 on their success in graduating from our school. We are both happy to share your elation over the progress you have made and sad to see you go. That we will miss you must be compensated by the knowledge that your life lies ahead of you and that we can only express our hope that it will be worthy and a happy life. As distance lends enchantment to the things we see so time will dim and soften up the experiences your school days conjure up, but the ideals that have been instilled in your souls shall shine brighter and become more meaningful as time passes on. Remember that the things worth while are the things you earn. As self-reliance comes through accomplishment so your future success depends upon yourself. It is not always easy to travel the narrow and straight road but it is honest and in the long run it will make you happy.

A. I. Jedlicka

Assistant Superintendent, W. R. Salmi

Everyone in the world is wanting the same thing, success-success in one form or another.
Success is like money invested at compound interest-it is cumulative. Success is the cumulative effect of doing well in all worthwhile undertakings. And successful people are those who make a habit of contributing their best at all times. It is regretable that thousands of people in all walks of life are robbing themselves of the full measure of the joys and thrills of successful living merely because they fail to give their utmost. The person who works hard and who does his best at all times seldom fails to experience the ultimate enjoyment from living. It is the idler and the loafer and the person who is content to do only enough to "get by" who finds life dull and uneventful. Any task well-performed injects a certain "lift" into one's spirit-it puts happiness into one's heart and instills contentment into one's mind.
We sincerely hope that this senior class has learned to accept with confidence its future assignments in life so that, each may follow through with persistent, intelligent effort. And as you continually contribute your best you will find yourself being transformed into that able, earnest, helpful, useful person you aspire to be.

W Salmi

Each year the annual suggests to me commencement. That thought brings forth mixed feelings. I am glad to see the seniors receive their high school diplomas for which they have been working for about as long as they can remember. However, a person cannot help but be genuinely sorry to see them depart from high school. Their good work, devotion to their ideals, and their loyalty to fundamental objectives, together with their personalities, will be greatly missed by anyone who really knows them.

Class History

Those "green cap" freshman days were in September of 1953. The East Side class elected Barb Mehling president; Marge Harnell, secretary; and David Dewsbury, treasurer. The West Side class president was Joe Spencer. The Freshman Initiation Party was one of the big events of the year for us. Nancy Strom and Pat Johnson were our Carnival queen candidates. Some of our lucky classmates traveled with the band to the Mardi Gras in New Orleans.

Dale Stockman, Sharon Hoffman, Carl Cullen and Janice Wedlund were elected the officers of our sophomore class. Our first activity of the year was to sponsor the Get Acquainted Party for the freshmen. We took an enthusiastic part in the hilarious annual bonfire and snake dance. Nancy Kelley represented our class at the Halloween Carnival, and a few months later Corinne Robertz and Karen Kehtel were chosen FFA Sweetheart candidates. Again our band members traveled -- this time to Miami, Florida, to participate in the Orange Bowl celebration. As the year drew to a close, we realized that our high school years were half over, and we all looked forward with anxiety to our junior and senior years.

In the fall of '55 we became juniors at PHS. During this year we took part in many activities. Joe Spencer presided over our class, acting together with other officers who were Skip Fontaine, vice president Marge Harnell, secretary; and Dick Maki, treasurer. In November we presented our class play, "Buy Jupiter", an amusing comedy. Our financial objective of the year was to raise money for the prom, so we promoted such activities as a magazine drive and a movie. The prom was held May 5 in the Duluth Athletic Club. The ballroom was decorated with a large moon, palm trees and luxuriant flowers to carry out the theme of "Moon Over Hawaii". Bob Dugar's Orchestra furnished the music. This was really the year for royalty, as we had four queens from our class. In October, Janice Wedlund was crowned Halloween Carnival Queen, and Corinne Robertz was crowned FFA Sweetheart in the spring. Kathe Terrell represented our class also. Susan Granmoe was chosen Winter Frolics queen, and Sharon Hoffman became "Miss Proctor". The arrival of our class rings in April was a real occasion. Selected to represent our class at Girls' and Boys' State were Janice Wedlund and Joe Spencer. This was the end of a busy, exciting year, but the most exciting year was yet to come.

On September 5, 1957, we became seniors at last. Diane Beatty was our Halloween Carnival queen candidate. Our unending projects for the year were concerned with raising money to finance the yearbook. Among them were ice cream sales, a movie, a magazine drive, pen sales, and yearbook sales and advertising. Our football team brought us fame by winning all of their games. Wayne Bohlin, Rodney Nelson, Susan Granmoe, and Helen Johnson were the class officers. The exchanging of graduation pictures became a familiar sight in January. Diane Beatty was crowned Homecoming Queen during the half-time ceremonies of the Proctor-Cloquet game; her attendants were Susan Granmoe, Barbara Provost, Corinne Robertz, and Janice Wedlund. In April the band members took a trip to Washington, D.C. to participate in the Cherry Blossom Festival. Our class play, "The Birds and the Boys," was presented on May 3. On the evening of May 4, we were guests of the juniors at the prom, which was held in the Hotel Duluth. The approach of commencement, which was scheduled for May 31, drew near. The last week of school was spent taking exams, signing yearbooks, and practicing the processional march for graduation. On May 31 we became alumni of Proctor High and our school days became pleasant memories.

This year Proctor's high-stepping majorettes were under the leadership of capable and attractive Barb Jugasek. Barb also was responsible for the training of our student majorettes. She was assisted by Sharyn Torba, Bertha Fransk, Karen Breimon, Carol Stack, Margaret Norstrom, and Mary Jo Bijold. These girls added color to our marching band and performed at our home basketball games during the half-time as an added attraction.

Student Council

The chief function of the Student Council is to develop a better understanding between the student body and the faculty. Among the worthwhile projects which they undertook during the year were a senior vocation day, the selling of milk at noon, and the publishing of a student registration guide. Each of the classes elects its own representatives to serve on the Council. In addition to these, the class officers are honorary members.

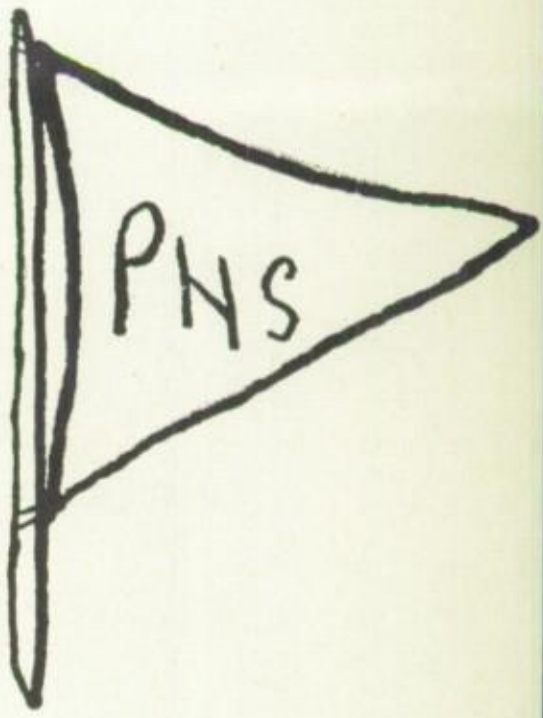
Cheerleaders

This year's cheerleading squad was composed of five junior girls -- Jean Sowa, Becky Korby, Judith Erickson, Debbie Tresise, and Janice Forsman -- and one sophomore, Janet Gonyea. The green and gray plaid pleated skirts worn by the girls were a change from tne outfits worn by previous squads. The enthusiasm and loyalty displayed by these girls has done much to sustain the morale of the team and to promote the the spirit of the entire school.



Activities

Halloween Carnival

Queen Judy

Under the direction of Mr. Moody, the band presented the annual Halloween Carnival. Its theme was "Help the band go to Washington." The most dramatic moment was the crowning of Queen Judy Stickney. Her attendants were Diane Beatty, senior; Jean Sowa, junior; and Nancy Verville, freshman.

Dear Karen,
Lots of luck to a real nice girl. Have fun this summer & next year as a senior at Proctor.

Vaudeville Nights

The annual band and orchestra vaudeville was presented on February 19 and 21. Included in the program was a minstrel act; a comedy act, "The Bilcoe Squad;" a girls' quartet; a monologue, "On Being Clinicked;" a trampoline act; a male quartet; an accordian solo; a skit, "The Bigger and Better Babies Contest;" a trombone solo; the junior girls' dance, "Sugar Blues;" and the senior girls' dance, "Fi-Fi."

Best Mixers: Dale Stockman and Janice Wedlund.

Prom, 1956

"Moon Over Hawaii" was the theme of the junior-senior banquet and prom which was held at the Duluth Athletic Club on May 5. Everyone dined in the atmosphere of palm trees and pineapples and danced to the music of Bob Dugar's orchestra. Janice Wedlund and Dale Stockman were presented the mixing spoons by Lollie Zebott and Wayne Johnson.

Class Prophecy

In the evening edition dated June 1, 1967, Mary Ann Burton, traveling reporter for the NEW YORK TIMES, brings a special report on the graduating class of 1957.

The most frequently mentioned name in the society columns is the wealthy philanthropist, Peggy Norton, currently residing at her exclusive manor in upper Maine. Miss Norton, according to the columnists, still has difficulty trying to refrain from giggling while attending teas. Also among the aristocratic is Sharon Hoffman, who recently was elected one of the world's ten best dressed women. She is now making a tour of France where she plans to revise Dior's conception of the hip. Also abroad are two of her former classmates, Beverly Harju and Marge Harnell, who have made the big decision of their lives. While in Italy they became so fascinated with the Italian hair cut that they dyed their hair black and are now modeling for the Italians. Speaking of traveling--Pat Myre's lust for travel and adventure, which was instilled in her as a child, prompted her to make a journey around the world on her bicycle. The one obstacle to fast transportation was the oceanic currents. Diane Beatty and Jon Keye are in England. Having attained the heights of her profession, Diane is currently modeling crowns for Queen Elizabeth. Jon has been doing a splendid job in London, the U. N. lent him to the English to assist in the revision of the parliamentary procedures and to find a more economical way to "change the guards". While on the subject of governments, a record has been set in Congress by a lady senator, Miss Margaret Forsman. Margaret has been violently opposing the passage of a bill which would allow Fatties Anonymous to be exempt from the anti-trust laws and has now the distinction of filibustering for the longest period in the history of Congress. It is rumored that the U.N. is also considering another of our former classmates, Rodney Nelson, for a position as a diplomatic courier to Australia. If this is true, Rodney will retire from the task of leading jungle safaris in order to accept the assignment. Lonnie Golen is now Commander-in-Chief of the NATO forces occupying Tibet. He is expected to be transferred soon to the remote island of Pago-Pago.

Our class ranks high in the field of fashion as well as foreign affairs. Barb Jugasek is editor of one of the country's leading fashion magazines and is at present perfecting the majorette uniform. Other names found in the fashion magazines are those of Roger Brayden and Carl Cullen. After being selected most handsome, Roger decided to make use of his gift. He appears in all the "Seventeen" ads as the "boy friend". Carl has made use of his masculine build by acting as a model for men's suits. However, his agent is having difficulty in restraining Carl from wearing bright orange "cords" in his advertisements. Setting the pace in hair styles is Karen Kehtel, a beautician and hair stylist in the Madame Fi-Fi Salon" in New York City. The experiments that Karen performed while in high school were of great value to her.

It is astonishing how many of the class of '57 chose the world of music. Carolyn Carlson has become the foremost star of the Metropolitan Opera House; she will be appearing on Max Leibman's T.V. spectacular this week. Mr. Leibman is presenting a classic opera entitled "Manhunt" in which Miss Carlson portrays the hunter. John Gannucci is appearing on television as the feature accordionist in the Lawrence Welk Orchestra. As a side line he directs his own dance band which is well known as "The Swiveled Stripes". And did you know that Melvin Lindquist, concert pianist, has become world renowned for his melodious rendition of the works of Bach, but is considering retirement in order to fulfill his desire to design cars? This inspiration came from the success of the "rod" he designed in his high school "daze". Victor Breemeersch is rehearsing for his performance at Carnegie Hall, where he is to conduct his own composition entitled "Blackberry Mountain". Victor has employed Pat Norland as the world's first music stenographer; she takes "notes" in shorthand. The fine clarinet player that you hear during the introduction on the Mickey Mouse Club is Charlene Sedor, who is working her way up the ladder as a mouseketeer. Charlene is also a featured speaker at the annual clinic for the Reed Institute in Chicago. One of the outstanding dance band leaders of the day is Ronald Barlow. He is featured on the bass as his band plays that famous interpretation of "Normal". Ronald has employed Donald Perrill as his private dance instructor. It is Don's duty to learn all the newest in dances and, in turn, teach them to all the patrons at the nightclub.

Three of our classmates chose sports as a life-time interest. They are JoAnn Moran, Skip Fontaine, and Richard Maki. JoAnn, our girl athlete, was recently honored as the woman athlete of the year. After capturing the highest honors at the Olympics for many consecutive years, she has retired to become the world's first musical coach. She soothes the nerves of her trainees by playing after-beats on her French horn. "Skip" Fontaine, our basketball great, has gone into professional basketball and is now coach of the New York Knickerbockers. Skip's words of wisdom to his players are, "Do a Skip". Another hero from the class of '57 is Dick Maki. Besides playing on a professional football team, he is the head of a manufacturing company which makes economy-size football helmets.

Many of our friends are now employed by NBC-TV. The celebrated Shakespearean actress, Corinne Robertz, has recently retired from acting to accept a position as director of "Boing Boing School". This has been her secret ambition since her baby sitting days in high school. During the station breaks of Corinne's show, Ruth Sather comes on with a commercial for the Bobble's Bubbilie Wubbilie Bubble Bath Company. She attributes her success to her speech class training during her senior year. John Peterson is advertising "Briten-Em-Up" tooth paste on several of the top television programs. However, we understand that there has been some complaint that John's dimples are claiming more attention than the tooth paste.

While engaged in research for the manufacturing of a solution to give everyone naturally curly hair, Kenneth Kohs was involved in a slight accident with some fluids. Nothing serious happened, but poor Ken is temporarily bald. Susan Granmoe, another laboratory worker, has finally invented a product which guarantees immunity from blushing. She is still frantically searching for a cure for red hair. Dr. David W. J. May has given the world one of its greatest scientific contributions; after extensive research under federal aid, Dr. May has perfected a silent hydrogen bomb whose mushroom cloud comes in your choice of six delightful pastel shades. Wayne Bohlin, the famed chemist, is presently testing kiss proof lipstick for the Hazel Bishop Company--for purely scientific reasons, you understand. Barb Provost rose to world-wide acclaim when she invented a coke glass that never needs washing. She is now working on the "Com-plainer's Special", a sundae which will be made according to the customer's specifications. In Mercy Hospital, Beatrice Coffey is busy "loading" hypodermic needles. She and her squad of nurses are now preparing for the "squirt needle" fight with the second floor interns. Among her fellow nurses is Pat John-son, who is laboriously engaged in a series of intricate experiments. She believes that she has finally found the eye in the famed "eye dropper". While on the subject of "eyes", it should be mentioned here that Jerry "Eyes" Emsley has gone a long way since his high school experience as a juvenile delinquent in the Senior Class Play. He has advanced to the position of head warden in the Youthville Reformatory for boys.

In the ancient ruins of the Mayan temples, with microscope and magnifying glass in hand, Kathe Ter-rell is trying to decipher the inscriptions, one of which was her famed recipe for Christmas cookies. Ruth Johnson, Eileen Envall, and Rosemary Kujawa are well on their way toward becoming full-fledged air-line hostesses. They are now in the final stages of their training after which they will fly off to romantic places the world over. Their first flight is scheduled for Twig via Adolph and Munger. Herman Engman has already visited some of these romantic far-away places. In the south sea island of Tahiti he has re-cently given up his role as beachcomber for a more profitable one as a pearl diver. Lauren Sathers, after extensive study abroad, has developed a breed of horses far superior to the Arabians. He will soon be dis-playing them at the World's Horse Show before the crown heads of Asia. His was the first merry-go-round in outer Mongolia. Several of the boys have shown interest, not in horses, but in cars. Ed Olson has been busy buying out the Ford Motor Company. He has gained the controlling interest in Chevrolet and Chrys-ler Corporation and will soon be going abroad to study foreign car designs. While Ed is busy buying out companies, Ken Evenson has been developing the speed of the automobile. He cracked the records of the Indianapolis speedway by breaking the sound barrier on Vinland Street last month. Each time Ken roars by, Dr. Sharon Parsons looks up from behind her stacks of books with disgust at the noise and sighs. How will she ever complete her book entitled "The Revision of Einstein's Theory of Relativity" if this noise persists? Cars are of absolutely no value to John Spearman, for he is marooned in the dense forest of the wilderness area. John is a forest ranger in these woods and records any mishap in shorthand. Leonardo Da Vinci VIII is using Shirley Kolenda as a model for his modern masterpiece of Mona Lisa. He believes that Shirley's smile will do much more for mankind. The Hunters, Doris and Diane, have made good use of their artistic talents too, by painting the M's on M&M chocolate candies.

Jan Wedlund has certainly put her experience at the bakery to good use and is now punching holes in the donuts at Jan's Bakery. Lee Ann La France, with a natural love for children, has founded Lee Ann's Home for Kids. Her partner, Margaret Skog, has perfected some out-of-the-sun equipment to prevent sunburn.

Food has proved to be a profitable field for some of our friends. Duane Wolff has been diligently work-ing on an experiment in which he hopes to cross breed a pig and a chicken so that you can have "ham-n-eggs" for breakfast, a delightful combination! Also working with food are Shirley Peterson, Doris Moen, and June Leiste. Shirley is employed by the United Foods Company as the display artist. She was in-spired by her success at the Proctor Fair where she won a prize for her foods display. Doris and June, two well-known home economists, have been improving Betty Crocker's methods of baking. They demon-strate their findings before large audiences in Munger, where their test kitchens are located. Following the adivce of these girls closely is Nancy Strom, a local restaurant owner. The teenagers have been re-lieved of the age old question of "what shall we do tonight?" The answer, of course, is "Go down to Nancy's Jump Inn". Nancy "Hepcat" Strom merely remodeled Dick's Walk Inn. Little Nancy Kelley has finally solved a major problem -- that of being bothered by a sore neck caused by having to look up at people. She found that when she no longer had the weight of her school books crushing her, she was able to grow another ten inches.

Dizzney Land has an employee from the class of 1957. Helen Pritchett is Frontierland's first woman sheriff. She accompanies the stagecoach on its regular route to Walt's office as a guard for his fan mail. Dorthey Johnson rides along with Helen on her trips and sings western songs. Dorthey is currently being billed as one of the western singers in the Grand Old Oprey. Also to be found at Dizzney Land is Charles Harnell, who is employed by Scrooge McDuck as head bookkeeper.

Among those who chose to go to college were Sharyn Torba, Diane Davis and Dick Klitsch. Sharyn and Diane have now realized their life-long ambition to be nuns. They were at first rebuked for their mischievous pranks such as that of climbing out of windows, but now seem to have outgrown them. Dick has recently completed an advanced course in law and has begun a fine practice in criminal law. He has the potentialities of another Clarence Darrow. Dick's two efficient secretaries are Ida Grohsman and Helen Johnson. Both of these girls hope to earn enough money to vacation in sunny Venezuela some day.

The class of '57 produced many businessmen. Dave Wombacher, who received his early training at the MW Store in Proctor, has just bought the controlling interest in that chain. Soon after graduation Joe Spencer's investments in the stock market boomed; he now is a Wall Street billionaire. Bud Breigenzer, who foresaw the comeback of the motion picture, has built the largest theater in the Middle West on the site of the old "Date". His theater has all of the newest inovations including a semi-circular screen twice as large as cinerama. Dale Stockman also crashed the motion picture industry. He is a member of the famed Marty-Dean comedy team. Once every month one of Dale's movies are shown at Bud's theater.

While on the subject of motion pictures it should be mentioned that Barb Johnson and Lois Pederson gained their fame in that industry. After working their way to top designing positions at MGM, they ac-cepted Barb Mehling's offer to become exclusive designers in one of her establishments. Barb is now the owner of an elite resort area on Caribou Lake, which has its own one-stop shopping center. In spite of her numerous duties as hostess she still finds time to give swimming lessons.

Wonder what the year 1977 will bring!

Good Luck To a Nice Bunch of Guys and Gals

Teenage Club,

OFFICERS: Wayne, Nancy, Jo Ann and Carl

The teenage dances have provided Friday night entertainment for the students of Proctor. Under the presidency of Jo Ann Moran, the teenagers have finished a year which was a social as well as a financial success. Officers assisting Jo Ann were Carl Cullen, vice president; Nancy Strom, secretary; and Wayne Bohlin, treasurer. One special event of the year was the Mistletoe Dance. Local dance bands featuring their musical specialities added variety to the many dances held throughout the year. From their profits the club contributed two hundred dollars to the Yearbook fund. In addition, the receipts of one dance managed by Juniors was given to the fund for the Junior-Senior Prom.

Hi ya Karen,

It sure seems funny to be seniors now doesn't it? I mean - seniors in the fall? (Excuse the change, but I hate dull pencils.) It seems like it was just yesterday that we were five year old neighbors & playing with mud pies! It sure sound silly now doesn't it? We really have had some swell times together haven't we. I hope we always have lots of good times together. I guess you've been three things at once to me really, a cousin, friend & my "advisor." Remember all the times we talked over all my troubles? I remember that time I had such a terrible time at a party & I felt so much better after I talked it out with you. I really mean it when I say "thanks" to you. You have done alot for me & I appreciate it.

Well there is so much to say, but then there just aren't words so I guess I'll close with that.

All the luck in the world to the sweetest girl I know. Have loads of fun always. Bye Bye for now,

Love, "T" Stuff

Carol

Karen, to see
